Letter to the Editor of the Grinnell Herald Register
Published December 2, 2004

Danny Carroll, apology accepted. Mr. Carroll's Nov. 22nd public apology was an encouraging step toward mending some of the wounds from this past campaign, including the use of Grinnell College students as a scare tactic. In speaking out against the divisive mailing and taking the extra step of discussing the issue with student constituents in a meeting a few days ago, Mr. Carroll has shown a level of integrity we wish was more common among elected officials. Certainly, our community would have been better off had the mailing never been sent. But, it was sent and we have little doubt that Mr. Carroll's apology was sincere. We can only hope that the Republican Party of Iowa, the group responsible for the mailing, will take a cue from Mr. Carroll.
