David Schmid is an Associate Professor and Chair of the Department of English at the University at Buffalo. The winner of the Milton Plesur and the SUNY Chancellor’s Awards for Excellence in Teaching, Professor Schmid teaches courses in British and American fiction, cultural studies, and popular culture. Born and raised in England, he received his B.A. from Oxford University, his M.A. from the University of Sussex, and his Ph.D. from the Modern Thought and Literature Program at Stanford University. He has published on a variety of subjects, including celebrity, Dracula and crime fiction and he is the author of Natural Born Celebrities: Serial Killers in American Culture published by the University of Chicago Press in 2005. He is currently working on two book-length projects: From the Locked Room to the Globe: Space in Crime Fiction and Murder Culture: Why Americans are Obsessed with Homicide.

John Hagedorn is Professor of Criminology, Law, and Justice at the University of Illinois-Chicago. His Ph.D. is from the Univ. of Wisconsin-Milwaukee in Urban Studies. Professor Hagedorn teaches courses in gangs and the media, the history of violence, and race, class, and gender. He has been studying gangs and violence for the past twenty-five years. He is the author of A World of Gangs: Armed Young Men and Gangsta Culture from the University of Minnesota Press. He is also author of People & Folks: Gangs, Crime, and the Underclass in a Rustbelt City, and co-editor of Female Gangs in America: Essays on girls, gangs, and gender, among other books. His current work centers on the history of gangs in Chicago, expert witness testimony in death penalty cases, and his website, http://gangresearch.net. Professor Hagedorn is an advocate of online and blended teaching and the use of video and film in public education.

Hope for Agoldensummer is a wonderful, profoundly understated group from Athens, Georgia. Their music is a bluegrass-tinged wellspring of harmony and intimate lyricism. Hope for Agoldensummer's songwriting is united by themes of community, family, love, and the shared struggle for justice, themes that hover in poetic allusion or hum beneath the currents of sweet melody, ever present yet rarely gaudy or forced. They are a band of peace, though the connections may take a few listens to make themselves apparent.
