

Instructor: Elias G. Saba
Email: sabaelia@grinnell.edu
Office Hours: T 9:00am–11:00am
F 1:00pm–2:30pm

HIS/REL 285-01: Islamic Law in Theory and Practice

Course Description:

This course will use the work of 12th century Andalusí scholar Ibn Rushd (Averroës) as a window into the theory and historical practice of Islamic law, often called shari‘a. We will cover a range of related topics, including criminal law, dietary law, the law of war, the place of public and private institutions in Muslim societies historically, how Muslim communities have debated questions of gender, and the contested place of religion in modern societies.

This class has three main components. First, the theory: we will spend the first half of this course grappling with selections from Ibn Rushd’s text. We will see how Muslim jurists read source texts, how they extrapolate specific laws from general statements in the Quran and the examples of the Prophet Muḥammad, and how they deal with disagreement.

Next, the practice: we will look at a variety of ways that this book law was applied and lived in different contexts, modern and premodern. How did individuals and societies relate to this law? In these contexts, we will also consider whether it makes sense to call Islamic law a religion law. What is gained and what is lost by saying that Islamic law is not religious?

Finally, while we do all of this, we will also be developing independent research projects on Islamic law. These projects will accompany us throughout the term and will (hopefully) enrich your understanding of the readings and our class discussions.

Course Requirements:

This is a seminar course. It is imperative that each student carefully reads all of the assigned readings on time and comes to class ready to participate in class discussion. We will learn to read and interpret legal argumentation. This will require you to closely read difficult texts and attempt to understand the rational progression of the argument. Class preparedness and participation is a major factor in the final grade and unexcused absences will count against this final grade.

This class is centered around a final research paper. This paper will involve researching one aspect of Islamic law broadly construed (that is, on any topic you wish that relates in some way to Islamic law). This topic will be chosen in consultation with the instructor, and there are several scaffolding assignments that lead to the final paper. In addition, the fatwa analysis may serve as part of the work of the final paper.

You are also required to meet with your writing mentor twice. One time for one of the first two assignments and again to talk about your paper proposal. You are encouraged to meet with them more than this.

Grading

• Paper 1 short (Class 5)	10%	100-94 = A	79-77 = C+
• Fatwa Analysis (Class 10)	10%	93-90 = A-	76-74 = C
• Paper Proposal (Class 14)	5%	89-87 = B+	73-70 = C-
• Peer Review (Class 30)	5%	86-84 = B	69-60 = D
• Presentation	5%	80-83 = B-	0-59 = F
• Final Project	35%
• Participation	30%

Learning Outcomes

Through this course, students will:

- Develop the ability to approach a scholarly topic/question from multiple perspectives that encompass a diversity of ideas and experiences.
- Learn how to read and understand Islamic legal texts.
- Identify and evaluate the claims and evidence of primary and secondary sources.
- Articulate appropriately specific research problems or questions.
- Improve their written communication by crafting essays and responding to instructor feedback.
- Improve their oral and visual communication, through formal presentations, collaborative learning, digital media, and class discussion.

Course Policies:

- You are expected to attend (participate in) every class. Two or more unexcused absences will have a negative impact on your final grade. Grinnell College offers alternative options to complete academic work for students who observe religious holy days. Please contact me within the first week of the semester if you would like to discuss a specific instance that applies to you. Class preparedness and participation is a major factor in the final grade and unexcused absences will count against this final grade. Missing more than 30% of the class discussions with unexcused absences will result in a failing grade.
- Because I value your success as a student at Grinnell, I do not hesitate to reach out to our Academic Advising staff if I suspect you may be experiencing difficulties. For instance, if you unexpectedly miss more than one class in a row, do not turn in an assignment, or fail an assignment or exam, I will submit an academic alert using the college's SAL system. I will do my best to notify you ahead of submitting an alert but may need to act quickly depending on the circumstances. [Although I will try to contact you in advance, this statement itself serves as a notification as well]. The academic alert is a way for us to use the university's many resources, including trained professionals on campus, to work with you (and me, perhaps) to address these issues and to ensure your ultimate success. You are always welcome to reach out to me if there is a significant issue impacting your learning, and I will be happy to help you connect directly with campus resources.

- Please send all e-mail to [sabaelia]. During the week, I will respond to within 24 hours. It may take longer to respond during the weekend. Feel free to send any questions you may have about the course, although I rather discuss substantive issues in person rather than via e-mail. Barring extraordinary disruptions to our semester, I do not respond to e-mail after 8:00pm Central. It's good to take some time for yourself.
- Breaches of academic integrity will result in an official disciplinary process guided by the Dean's office. If you have questions about the Academic Honesty policy, please consult Academic Honesty The College's Academic Honesty policy is located in the Student Handbook available online here. The College expects that students are aware of and meet the expectations of this policy. Assignments in this course are not collaborative. If you have any questions, please see me before you turn in your work.
- Class discussion can only thrive within an environment of openness and respect. This means respecting our classmates, the people about whom we read, and our authors (in this order, normally). I do not expect you to agree with all of our authors or each other, but it is important to take everyone seriously. In addition, I strongly request that you do not share material from our class discussions or videos publicly.
- The College supports students' efforts to meet both class obligations and religious ones. If you plan to observe religious holidays that coincide with class meetings or assignment due dates, please meet with me during the first two weeks of classes so that we may reach a mutual understanding of how you can meet these obligations.
- In order to create a fully inclusive classroom, I welcome students to approach me about distinctive learning needs. In particular, I encourage students with disabilities to have a conversation with me and disclose how our classroom or course activities could impact the disability and what accommodations would be essential. You will also need to have a conversation about and provide documentation of your disability to the Coordinator for Disability Resources, Jae Hirschman [hirschma].

Required Books:

- Knut Vikør, Between God and the Sultan (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2005).

Tentative Schedule:

SCHEDULE:

Introductions

*8/26: Introduction to the class, how to think about studying law and legal systems

- OPTIONAL: Joseph E. Lowry, "What is Islamic Law? How Should We Study It?," Islamic Law Blog, December 31, 2020. [link]

Overview of the History of Islamic Law

*8/31: Class 2: Introduction to Islam, Islamic Society, and Islamic Law

- Vikør, Preface + Introduction, and Ch. 2, "From Practice to Method," v-vii + 1–30.

*9/2 Class 3: The Sources of Islamic Law

- Vikør, Ch. 3, “The Koran and Sunna as Sources,” Ch. 4 “Elaborating the Sources: Qiyās and Ijtihād,” and Vikør, Ch. 5 “Getting Social Sanction: Ijmā‘ and Authorization,” 31–88.

Substantive Law*9/7: Class 4: Torts – [Paper 1 Due]

- P. Keeton, et al. Tort and Accident Law: Cases and Materials (St Paul: West, 1983), 1-24. (pweb)
- Vikør, selection from Ch. 14, “Criminal Law,” 287-290.

*9/9: Class 5:

- Ibn Rushd, The Distinguished Jurist’s Primer, 2 vols. tr. I.A.K. Nyazee (Reading: Garnet Press, 1994), II: 478-500.

*9/14: Class 6: Torts (contd.)

- Ibn Rushd, II: 500-521.

*9/16: Class 7: Crimes

- J. Kaplan, R. Weisberg, Criminal Law: Cases and Materials (Boston: Little, Brown and Company, 1986), 3-27.
- Vikør, the rest of ch. 14, 280-298 [SKIM]
- OPTIONAL: Intisar Rabb, “Introduction” to Doubt in Islamic Law: A History of Legal Maxims, Interpretation, and Islamic Criminal Law (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2015), 1-22. [link]

*9/21: Class 8: Class 9: Crimes (contd.)

- Ibn Rushd, II:521-536.
- OPTIONAL: Intisar Rabb, “Introduction” to Doubt in Islamic Law: A History of Legal Maxims, Interpretation, and Islamic Criminal Law (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2015), 1-22. [link]

*9/23: Class 10: Crimes (contd.) [Fatwa Analysis Due]

- Ibn Rushd, II:536-552.
- OPTIONAL: Intisar Rabb, “Introduction” to Doubt in Islamic Law: A History of Legal Maxims, Interpretation, and Islamic Criminal Law (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2015), 1-22. [link]

*9/28: Family Law

- Ibn Rushd, II:1-25.
- Vikør, Ch. 15, “Family Law,” 299-325.

*9/30: Class 11: Family Law (contd.)

- Ibn Rushd, II:71-97.

Ritual Purity

*10/5: Class 12: Ritual Purity

- Ibn Rushd, I: 1-25.
- OPTIONAL: Kevin Reinhart, “Impurity/No Danger,” History of Religions 30 (1990), 1-24. [link]

Jihad

*10/7: Class 13: Family Law (contd.) [Paper Proposal due]

- Ibn Rushd, I: 454-487.
- OPTIONAL: Paul L. Heck, “‘Jihad’ Revisited,” The Journal of Religious Ethics 32.1 (2004): 95-128. [link]

Commercial Transactions

*10/12: Class 14:

- Ibn Rushd, II: 153–72

*10/14: Class 15:

- Ibn Rushd, II: 203–19.
- Vikør, Chapter, 16, Economy, Taxes and Property, 326-344.

Topics and Issues in Islamic LawPublic Institutions

*10/26: Class 16:

- Joseph E. Lowry, “Institutions” in Key Themes in the Study of Islam, ed. Jamal J. Elias, 200-219. [link]
- Robert Gleave, “Shī‘ī Law/Islamic Law: Some Category Problems,” Islamic Law Blog, December 10, 2020. [link]

*10/28: Class 17: Public Institutions (cont.)

- Vikør, Ch. 8, "The Court and the Law: Mufītīs and Legal Development," and Vikør, Ch. 9, "The Court and its Judge: the Role of the Qāḍī," 140-184.

*11/2: Class 18:

- Vikør, Ch. 10, "The Court and the State," 185-205.
- “Studying a Lived Law: An Interview with Yossef Rapoport,” Islamic Law Blog, December 15, 2020. [link]

*11/4: Class 19:

- Wael Hallaq, Sharī‘a: Theory, Practice, Transformations (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2009), 197-222. [link]

Private Institutions

*11/9: Class 20:

- Vikør, Ch. 6, “The Four Schools of Law,” 89-113.]

*11/11: Class 21:

- Vikør, Ch. 7, “Law Beyond the Four Schools,” 114-139.

Modernity

*11/16: Class 22:

- Vikør, Ch. 11, "Law and Courts in the Ottoman Empire," Ch. 12, "Islamic Law in the Modern Period," and Conclusion, 206-253, 345-347.

*11/18: Class 23:

- Hallaq, Ch. 7, "Colonizing the Muslim world and its Shari‘a," 85-114
- OPTIONAL: Hallaq, Ch. 8, "The law in the age of nation-states," 115-139.

*11/23: Wednesday Before Thanksgiving; Work on Final Stuff.

- Research and Writing Day
- OPTIONAL: Film: “Divorce Iranian Style.” [link]

*11/30: Class 25

- Vikør, Conclusion, 345-347.
- Sohaira Siddiqui, “The Paradoxes of Codifying Islamic Law in the Maldives” Middle East Law and Governance 9.2 (2017): 174–98. [link]

*12/2: Class 26:

- Peer Review

*12/7: Class 27:

*12/9: Class 28:

Final Due Friday Dec. 16 @ Noon