

Deadlines: October 15 / March 15

The Sociology Department at Grinnell College invites applications for up to 8 cognate credits to be included as part of the total credits in the major. The Department only considers courses with an obvious connection to Sociology (e.g. Sociology is in the course title, the course is offered in a Sociology Department at an accredited college or university, etc.). The Department cannot accept cognate credit applications for core course offered in the curriculum, including Contemporary Sociological Theory and Empirical Methods of Investigation. An application itself does not guarantee acceptance.

BACKGROUND

Provide a list of all coursework in the major, including past, current, and future courses.

Second major (if applicable):

Advisor:

Year:

COURSE

- I. Attach the course syllabus.
- II. Attach a 500-750-word (max.) petition, which accomplishes the following:
 - a. addresses how the course complements your program of study in the major;
 - b. highlights the sociological themes of the course, with reference to specific readings, terms, concepts, and lectures;
 - c. notes the analytic, presentation, writing, and critical thinking skills developed in the course; and
 - d. reflects on the process and learning outcomes of 2-3 major assignments.
- III. Attach a description of one major writing assignment in the course, as well as the final draft of the assignment, with grade and instructor comments.
- IV. Overall grade in the course. If an alternative or unfamiliar grading system was used in the course, please add details: